- I love working at Manzanita!
- This school provides the most efficient and effective learning and teaching experience I have ever been exposed to, and even after teaching in three districts prior.
- Lots of positivity on campus. Very student centered. We are able to be creative and flexible.
- Overall when there is a problem we solve them quickly and kindly.
- I can really tell people care about their work
- This school is a great place to work. As a parent, I chose this school because it values students and their unique strengths and talents.
- Leadership seems to be improving.

- Na
- We are improving every day.
- Discipline is slipping. Need consequences and more parent contact.
- Communication among staff could be improved.
- Many students are disrespectful to me and others as staff members, have been told by family to fight back at school, say rude and disrespectful things to adults- a lot of students do not see how these three things are not ok! The behavior at this school is a major problem.
- There are staff members who do the bare minimum and refuse to do anything above what is required of them. For example, a student fell and got hurt and the staff member who was right next to the hurt student, didn't bother to check on the student and continued to paint on a window, which is a safety concern. Luckily, another staff member attended to the hurt child. All children's safety should be a staff members first priority regardless if they are on break or tasked to do another job.
- We could collaborate in small groups more, across grade levels.
- This is a great school raising a community of children to send out to the community
- We probably need a bit more honesty among the staff. Not that optimism isn't appreciated and even necessary, but it holds us back more than it keeps a functioning campus.
- Our school needs to include alternative points of view.
